

How CDC works

We're the UK's development finance institution. We invest in businesses in Africa and South Asia to help support job creation, because having a job is one of the first steps out of poverty.

In doing this, we aim to make a return on our investment, which we recycle into even more businesses.

